SLAV MASTERCLASS SERIES 2021

LibGuides

Thursday June 10
ONLINE
10am to 12noon

This masterclass will explore five different school libraries usage of the LibGuides platform to enhance and enrich learning.

Speakers:

Sarah Derrig, Head of Libraries at Emmanuel College, Melbourne will share helpful hints and tips on how to create visually pleasing and educational LibGuides.

In addition, Sarah will also share how, over the course of only a few months, Emmanuel College Libraries went from a forced and reluctant destination for students to a digital resources haven working with various departments to enhance the learning experience of Emmanuel College students.

Julie Purcell, Director of the Library Resource Centre, Ruyton Girls' School, Kew will provide a brief overview of a recent project using LibGuides to create a Primary School Library interface. The project, driven largely by student voice, used data from a series of student workshops in the design and development process.

Jennifer Cain, Head of Learning Commons and Personal Project Co-ordinator, Mater Christi College, Belgrave will introduce users to the benefits of creating templates, design consistency, picture galleries and banner images.

Marie O'Brien, Head of the Resource Centre at Marymede Catholic College in South Morang, a school that has been using LibGuides for about six years. The resources grew quite organically, with little structural planning. During 2020 Marie managed to crash the site by deleting three small words from the home page. There are ways and means of retrieving the data, but it takes considerable time to rebuild if you don't plan. Marie presents some simple solutions for ensuring that, in the event of accidental deletion, all is not lost, and rebuilding is mere days of work, not weeks or months.

Lauren Kenny, Library and Drama Teacher and Geoff Williams, IT Specialist, from Wonthaggi Secondary College, Wonthaggi are looking forward to giving an overview of their LibGuides creation process. They will share how they keep LibGuides relevant to teachers and students, as well as connected to the Victorian Curriculum. They will talk about embedding search engines in LibGuides, making better use of Google and including student tasks. They will also give an overview of how they create quick and easy LibGuides for new books, using a Syndetics book display widget.

- A padlet has been created to support the sharing of ideas and resources. https://padlet.com/slavconnects/LibGuides2021
